

IT WAS COLD DAY IN AUGUST FOR HOTEL PORTER ALEX BECK

Locked in Refrigerator Man Almost Froze to Death Before Relief Came—Mr. Beck Signalled for Help by Shutting Off Spigots.

New York, Aug. 14.—Alexander Beck, bar porter at the Marlborough Hotel, spent all his spare time yesterday wherever he could find the most sunshine, and in the meantime as he went about his duties his joints creaked like the rusty hinge of a door.

All that was because Beck is not yet thawed out. It will be several days, he thinks, before his arteries are running unlogged by floating ice and the dampness gets out of his bones and sockets. He was almost frozen to death the day before, and had it not been for the frayed presence of mind that came to him in the last extremity he might have been entirely frozen.

His duties are many and varied. It is he who must keep the barkeepers supplied with everything they need

He stopped for fear he would break off a hand or a finger.

It seemed that about all in sight for him was a cold, cheerless exit, with a beer keg and a bag of lemons for his funeral catalogue. He sat down and tried to weep, but the icicles nearly blinded him. He was giving up in despair when he gave a shriek of delight. He remembered that the valves of the air pumps attached to the beer spigots of the bar were in the room. Giving a very good imitation of an Arctic avalanche, he rolled over the castles and grabbed the valves. When he turned around finally he had shut off every spigot in the floor above and then sat down to wait.

He had no long to wait, for ten minutes later the manager came down

THAW'S PRETTY YOUNG WIFE

WILL SURELY TAKE WITNESS STAND AT TRIAL OF THE MILIONAIRE.

Secrets of Evelyn Thaw's Life Will be Revealed in Effort to Save
Her Husband.

New York, Aug. 14.—Florence Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the wife of the young Pittsburgh millionaire charged with the murder of Stanford White, will take the witness stand in her husband's defense. That decision has been reached by counsel for Harry K. Thaw. The wife of White's slayer has finally decided to go before a jury and reveal the story of her life prior to and after her marriage with Thaw.

Thaw's wife will not spare herself in the terrible ordeal that she must face, but will reveal the inmost secrets of the glided circle of which Stanford White was one of the shining lights and of which she herself was a victim of unbridled wealth and license.

Most important of all, Mrs. Thaw's testimony will be the relation of the incidents on the day of the tragedy. She is expected to testify that White sent her a basket of roses in the late afternoon of that day, accompanied by a note in which he expressed his ardent desire to see her at once. This letter is now in the possession of the Thaw defense and will be produced at the trial. Thaw's wife will tell of the white rage into which her husband fell that day after discovering that his enemy and rival for his wife's affections had again attempted to lure her back, and the defense are confident that Mrs. Thaw's story will prove ample justification for the killing.

Gowned in a smart frock of white and black, with a jaunty black straw hat with a flowing veil, young Mrs. Thaw called upon her husband in the Tombs prison. She carried a basket of fruit and a package of cold chicken when she left her electric brougham and hurried into the prison. She and her husband had a long conversation. When Mrs. Thaw was asked concerning the condition of her husband she said:

"Poor Harry is in much better spirits today than he was Saturday."

DEATH VALLEY "SCOTTY"

Claims to Have Important Evidence in Favor of Thaw.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—A dispatch from Los Angeles says that Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner, is likely to be a witness for Harry Thaw. Scott claims it is said, that in January last he was the means of preventing Stanford White from killing Thaw in Madison Square Garden, and has the revolver that he says, White intended to use. He says there are two witnesses in New York who saw him take the revolver from White and heard the controversy.

SEVEN MEN

Seriously Injured, Two Fatally, in a Shooting and Stabbing Affray on a Train.

Lacrosse, Wis., Aug. 14.—Seven men were seriously injured, two probably fatally, in a shooting and stabbing affray on a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train at Sparta, Wis. Louis Feltz, who said he lived at Milwaukee, apparently becoming demented after leaving a parlor car, where he was the object of comment on account of his unkempt appearance, drew a knife and attacked the conductor. A struggle followed during which Louis Feltz of Milwaukee was shot 11 times, and may die. W. W. Hubbell, village marshal of Sparta, was stabbed six times and may die. As the train stopped at Sparta Feltz jumped from the car. After an encounter with the marshal of Sparta Feltz was arrested.

FLYER WRECKED.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 14.—The K. & T. passenger train from San Antonio to St. Louis known as the "flyer" was wrecked at Scott Junction, Kansas, early today. Several people were injured.

A Frisco freight train ran into the flyer at a crossing, knocking the chair car and sleeper from the track. The engineer of the freight said he could not see the flyer on account of obstructing box cars. The flyer was six hours late.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 14.—Frisco switch engine crashed into the chair car of the Katy flyer No. 4 this morning at Scott Junction, one mile from Fort Scott, injuring 17 persons slightly. The car was turned over and took fire. The flames were extinguished by trainmen before great damage was done. The most seriously injured are:

Joe Hadley and wife of Sasquehanna, Pa. Three of Hadley's fingers on the left hand were smashed. Mrs. Hadley suffered lacerations about the head.

Mrs. Ed Lamb and daughter, Ruth and Mrs. J. J. Brodick and daughter of St. Louis, were slightly injured.

CANTEEN QUESTION

Bobs Up at Meeting of Veterans—
Clara Barton Arrives—G. A. R.
Encampment.

Minneapolis, Aug. 14.—The 40th annual encampment of the G. A. R. formally opened today with business sessions, camp fires and reunions by the score.

There is a well defined sentiment among friends and relatives of visitors that this would be the last encampment, because of age and infirmities.

Many pitiful sights of aged invalids tottering up the streets in vain effort to find some former comrade are witnessed.

The crowd is estimated by the local committee at 105,000. The Chicago delegation of 6000 arrived last night. Railroad congestion is serious but conditions are getting better.

The heat last night resulted in 12 prostrations being reported by the hospitals, none fatal.

There was a slight fire and panic in the National hotel this morning. No one was seriously injured, but a dozen persons were bruised.

The campaign for commander in chief of the G. A. R. is growing warm. The adherents of R. B. Brown of Zanesville, O., today began to push their man in energetic fashion and they have scattered broadcast large cards announcing his candidacy and setting forth his qualifications as his friends view them.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 14.—All that possibly can be done is being done to entertain the thousands who came here to attend the G. A. R. annual encampment. At nearly every corner in the business section of the city is situated an "information booth," which is tenanted by a young man of education who knows his business and is capable of answering all sorts of questions in a satisfactory manner. A feature of the thoughtfulness that underlies the entire work so far done by the local entertainment committee is found in the numerous benches that are stretched along both sides of all the downtown streets. They are rough affairs, fashioned crudely out of unplanned plank, but they afford a resting place for tens of thousands of weary pedestrians.

It is expected that considerable debate will result over the recent law passed by congress driving the canteen out of the old soldiers' homes. Commander-in-Chief Tanner is in favor of a resolution deprecating the purpose of this law, but a strong element in the organization is against such action.

Another feature that may crop out is the old fight over the proposed erection of a statue of Henry Wirz, who was in command of Andersonville prison. This matter came up in 1901, and has been more or less alive ever since. All members of the Grand Army are vehemently opposed to the erection of a statue to Wirz, who was hanged, but many of them declare that in their opinion the intention to erect such a statue is not serious, and not worth the consideration some are disposed to give it.

The contest for national commander is growing warmer, although no great amount of electioneering has been done. Friends of Captain P. H. Conry of Kansas are making what is outwardly the most aggressive campaign, and claim to be fairly confident of the election of their man. Other candidates whose names are being strongly pushed are R. B. Brown of Zanesville, O., and Charles G. Burton of Missouri. There is no contest worth mentioning for any of the minor offices.

Clara Barton, the famous Red Cross worker, arrived in Minneapolis to attend the encampment, and will remain during the week to enjoy being with the soldiers for whom she worked so industriously during the civil war. Miss Barton came with the Massachusetts department.

Thousands of Grand Army veterans and visitors were electrified at the clever maneuvers of Charles Hamilton, aeronaut, as he encircled the city hall tower in his airship. Hamilton cut many figures in the air above the downtown district.

SEPTEMBER TERM OF COMMON PLEAS

FALL BUSINESS STARTS MONDAY MORNING, SEVENTEENTH

Fish Net Case Dismissed by Justice—Property Transfers—News From the Court House.

The September term of the Common Pleas court will commence on Monday, September 17. The J. F. Lingafelter case however, is set for September 4.

Case is Dismissed.

The case of the State of Ohio vs. Albert Weathers of Buckeye Lake, charged with having in his possession set nets for the purpose of unlawfully catching fish, was dismissed in Justice Lake's court Tuesday morning by the State. This is the case recently tried in Justice Lake's court in which the jury disagreed.

Transcripts Filed.

Transcripts from the civil docket of Justice Lee S. Lake have been filed with the clerk of the court in the following cases: White & Company vs. C. L. Barcus. J. E. Rose vs. C. L. Barcus.

Van Fossen Divorce Case.

The divorce case of Stacia S. Van Fossen against Charles C. Van Fossen, was heard by the Probate court Tuesday afternoon, and a decree was granted the plaintiff on the grounds of extreme cruelty, failure to provide and abandonment. The plaintiff has been making her home in this city for some time with her sister, Mrs. Stull, while the defendant is a well known young farmer of Bennington township, this county.

Adjudged Insane.

Wm. Miller, a well known farmer of Jersey township, aged 33 years, was adjudged insane by Probate Judge Brister Tuesday afternoon. Miller has a wife and three children and has been suffering from melancholy, which took the form at first that he cannot pay his debts. Dr. C. F. Legge is of the opinion that his trouble is only temporary, and that he will recover.

Court House Notes.

In the case of William H. Kidd vs. Samuel E. Mossholder, the defendant has filed his answer to the petition of the plaintiff as follows: First, he denies each and every allegation in the first and second causes of action contained and says that the same and each of them are untrue. Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for the defendant.

In the case of Martha E. Purks vs. H. B. Dusenbury and others, the defendant, H. B. Dusenbury demurs to the petition of the plaintiff for the following reasons: First, that the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute any cause of action against the defendant. Second, that the facts stated in the petition do not entitle the plaintiff to the relief prayed for in the petition against the defendant. Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for the defendant, H. B. Dusenbury.

The Payre ditch matter, about which there has been so much controversy, was up again before a joint session of the Licking and Delaware county commissioners.

CHICAGO DIVORCES

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Work on the divorce census of Chicago and Cook county for the last twenty years was begun today by 23 clerks, under the direction of the United States census bureau.

When the task is finished, it is expected that 40,000 divorces in Cook county will have been recorded and classified.

The cause for divorce is taken from the original bill. Information about the number of children in the family, the length of time the pair has been married, and whether or not drunkenness was a contributory cause, with several other particulars, are noted on a card. From a collection of all cards, the statistics are worked up. The completed work will extend to December 31, 1906. The last preceding divorce census was taken in 1880 when Illinois led the country in the number of divorces granted, having 26,072 for the 15 years as against Ohio's 26,267 for 20 years.

Cook county alone showed 8,135 divorces granted.

Seven women, according to the court records, ask for divorce to every one demanded by a man.

PROMINENT PART

Played by Chance—Street Remark
Led to Discovery of Waiting Fortune.

New York, Aug. 14.—Within a month Arthur Guthrie, who is a janitor in West Sixty-third street, will have $90,000, left him by a relative whose existence he had forgotten and who died three years ago. Through the accidental overhearing of remark passed on the street by two lawyers who had been endeavoring to find him, the man, who has always been extremely poor, learned that wealth was his for the asking.

Hughes, part of whose fortune of $300,000 was left in equal parts to James and Arthur Guthrie, died in the Flatbush Insane Asylum three years ago. He had been a wealthy cattle dealer and ranchman. He steadily saved his money until seven years ago when he sold his stock and came to New York. He bought real estate and the property now includes some of the finest lots and residences skirting Prospect Park.

After the aged ranchman's death a will was found which left the greater part of his fortune to his brother, who was in Montreal. A special clause in the will was to the effect that the Guthrie brothers were to have about $200,000 divided between them. Hughes had overestimated the worth of some of the real estate and the part left to them really amounts to about $180,000. Of this Arthur Guthrie, the janitor, gets half.

Several days ago Guthrie went to see his son in a down town building. As they were walking out two men passed them, talking earnestly.

"If I could only find those Guthrie brothers it would be all right," said one of the men. The janitor blurted out that his name was Guthrie.

"What's your first name?" asked one of the men.

"Arthur," was the reply.

"Where were you born?"

"Tipperary, Ireland," said Guthrie.

The lawyers asked Guthrie to step into their office and in a few minutes he convinced them that he was one of the men they had been searching for for three years.

HAD EXPECTATIONS

But Marlett Died Penniless Because
Uncle Sam Never Paid for Cotton Burned in War.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 14.—Henry Marlett of Steuben street, died suddenly at the home of Robert McCafferty in Winchester street of apoplexy, in absolute poverty, and had it not been for the fact that some of his boyhood friends came forward today his body would have been buried in the potter's field by the coroner.

Marlett was 60 years old and the son of James Marlett, one of the wealthiest men in Pittsburg before the Civil War. James Marlett owned many plantations along the Sunflower river in Arkansas, and had a steamboat line running from New Orleans to this city. Henry Marlett was his only son, and was manager of his father's business. The Union soldiers burned every boat in the fleet, with thousands of tons of cotton. All the plantations were ruined, and when the war was over the Marletts were penniless.

Henry Marlett's father died during the war, and at its close the son brought suit against the government to recover $125,000 for the burned steamers. But ever since the case has been put off from time to time, and Marlett, who became known as "the man with expectations," lived most of the time off the bounty of his friends. During all these years Marlett never lost his unbounded faith in and admiration for the government which had made him a pauper. The only things he left were some relics of the war, which he valued more highly than his life.

MISS ESAC

Will Be Tried For Lunacy Unless She Leaves Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 14.—Lunacy proceedings were instituted against Miss Asi L. Esac, or Elizabeth Case, who created a disturbance during the church service attended by President Roosevelt Sunday. Should Miss Case remain within the jurisdiction of Nassau county until Wednesday, she will be taken before Judge Jackson at Mineola for commitment as an insane person. Miss Case was examined by Dr. Fowler of Oyster Bay and Dr. Seaman of Glen Cove, who were formally constituted examiners in lunacy. The result of the examination was a report that Miss Case is mentally incompetent to be at large. According to the legal procedure necessary this report will be presented to Judge Jackson, sitting at Mineola, when an order will be issued requiring the presence of Miss Case before the court. This order can not be served until Wednesday, and as there are no charges of any character against Miss Case there is nothing to prevent her taking leave of Oyster Bay and Nassau county before she is served with the papers.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 14.—Miss Lila Case, or Esac, the woman who has been seeking to talk with the President, is still in town today despite the fact that a commission of lunacy has declared her of unsound mind and ordered her arrest if she did not leave the county.

CZAR TO WITNESS MANEUVERS

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14.—The Czar, accompanied by his family, left Peterhof today for Krasnoye-Selo, where he will witness the maneuvers of the guards which are now proceeding there.

The Czar had planned to make this trip for some time but after the attempt Friday on the life of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, during a review of troops at Krasnoye, it was announced that the imperial program had been changed. The Czar, however, apparently reconsidered this decision and determined to show himself to the soldiers.

The Czar will review the troops with his infant son, the Czarévitch, thus appeared before all the soldiers stationed at Krasnoye. It was with the hope of establishing closer relations between the royal family and the loyalist guards that he Czar's trip to Krasnoye was planned. By showing his confidence in their loyalty he believes their devotion to himself and his family will be strengthened.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to guard the royal family against assassination on the trip and to protect the Czar during the review. One hundred detectives have been sent to Krasnoye and they are relied on to guard the monarch.

SITES FOR NEW FEDERAL BUILDING

As was telegraphed the Advocate from Washington Monday, four sites have been offered the United States government for the erection of the federal building in this city for which $90,000 was recently appropriated. Those offering sites were The Newark Real Estate and Improvement company, A. R. Seller and H. D. Woodbridge. The two sites of the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company include the property at the corner of Canal and South Second street, which, when divided according to plans arranged, gives the entire corner, including the adjoining property of Messrs. William Kellenberger, F. G. Speer and the Mohlenpah property. The dimensions according to this arrangement would be 150 feet on Second street, 198 feet on the south side and 100 feet on the north. This excludes a space of 100 by 80 feet on the northwest corner. This was set at $40,000.

The second arrangement offered is to include the Huber, Mohlenpah and Speer properties, and, with an alley on the north, would give an outlet on all sides. This site is held at from $25,000 to $30,000.

The site offered by H. D. Woodbridge is that of his residence on South First street, just opposite St. Paul's Lutheran church. This lot, 100 feet wide and 200 feet deep, is offered for $18,000, and for $16,000 if 50 feet is taken off the depth.

The fourth site is that of the Seiler hotel. The dimensions of the property are 120 feet on Second street and 200 feet on Franklin. No price has been set on this site as yet.

All of the four which have been offered are within the 80 rod limit of the railroads and the first two are within 762 and 170 feet of the B. & O. and P. C. C. and St. L. railroads, respectively.

Just at this particular emergency the various statistical bureaus at Washington begin working overtime. The head of each one of them is a trained Republican politician, who allows nothing in the way of a little faction to come between friends. One of the most eminent of the statisticians was the chief of the McKinley literary bureau and then disclosed his egregious fitness for his job. Now it is the bureau of labor, which reports that after inquiring of certain establishments, but not all, there was an increase in weekly wages of 1.6 per cent in 1905 over 1904, and that the prices of food, quality considered, was .6 per cent higher, thus asserting by the expert use of decimal fractions that the employe in the establishments selected gained 1 per cent a week over the cost of his food. Other matters of domestic economy are not stated as to cost. Such reports as this are mere rubbish. They are figured out to reach a preconceived and desired result. Every housewife in this country knows that wages have not increased by any general trend, while the cost of living has materially advanced. Dun's index number has admitted the fact month after month. We will have more of these brilliant reports on the eve of the campaign, and some people with no money in their pockets will be convinced that they can pay their rent next day because the per capita is enough to meet the amount.

REPUBLICANS OF IOWA

high among the Perkins men, and in the plan to defeat Cummins is also involved the retirement to private life of the junior senator. The legislature next winter will elect Dolliver's successor, and the scheme is to defeat both the governor and the senator. Cummins himself has no use for Dolliver, because, while professing to be a friend of Perkins during the primaries, he actually gave no help to his or to the governor either. It is understood the governor will be a candidate for senator against Dolliver, even though the Republicans control the legislature, so that he too will be pitted against each other during the campaign, each seeking to bring about the election of legislators pledged to his respective support.

Outside of Iowa there appears to be some misapprehension concerning the hissing of Secretary Shaw during the convention. Had it not been for the fact that the mention of the secretary's name by the temporary chairman evoked tremendous demonstration on the part of the Perkins delegates, there very likely would have been no hissing.

The chairman had alluded to Senator Dolliver, and Senator Allison and there were only a few hand claps, but when Shaw's name was spoken there was loud and continuous cheering. This angered some of the Cummins delegates, and in retaliation they hissed the secretary's name.

B. & O. CONDUCTOR SMITH IS HURT

IN CHARGE OF FREIGHT TRAIN WHEN ACCIDENT OCCURRED AT BENWOOD.

Left Arm Broken, Hip and Neck Injured—Brought to Newark on Monday Night.

B. & O. Conductor Carl Smith, of this city, met with a serious accident at Benwood on Monday. He was in charge of freight train No. 24, east bound, and as the train was pulling out of the Benwood yards it broke in two. When the train broke in two Mr. Smith was standing in his "caboose," making out his report, and the air going into the emergency caused the caboose to come to a sudden stop, throwing him with great force across the car and breaking his left arm in two places, just above the wrist and below the elbow. His hip and neck were also injured. Mr. Smith was taken to McMechen, W. Va., where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Page Dameron Barlow, and he came home on No. 15 Monday night.

PLAY GROUND PARKS IN CHICAGO

JOHN A. MONTGOMERY TELLS OF THEIR OBJECTS AND RESULT
ALREADY NOTICED.

Would be a Good Thing to Introduce Play Ground Park Idea in This City.

Recently Alderman J. A. Montgomery of Decatur, Ill., a brother of Mrs. E. T. Johnson of Hudson avenue, was in Chicago and while there visited some of the playground parks which the park boards of that city are establishing in the congested districts and when asked to tell something concerning their scope, he said:

"While in Chicago attending the meeting of the State Bar association, I spent a day studying the play ground park system of Chicago so far as I could see it in one day. I visited three of the principal parks that have been opened up, which gives one a fair idea of the work that is being done by the park commissioners.

"These parks range in size from a city block to 60 acres and are located in the congested districts of the city. Sherman park is near the stock yards district, which is certainly one of the most deplorable districts in this great overgrown city. If one could confine his visits in Chicago to the beautiful parks and boulevards and the residence district on the lake front, he could not be otherwise than favorably impressed, but when one leaves these districts he is overwhelmed with the painful contrast. These play ground parks are all fitted with a neighborhood club house which is opened free to the neighborhood for gatherings of various character, such as lectures, school entertainments, dances, socials, etc. They have out and indoor gymnasiums thoroughly equipped with all modern appliances, and out and indoor swimming pools.

In Sherman park the outdoor swimming pool is 80 x 150 feet, with a maximum depth of 9 feet and a minimum of 2 feet 9 inches. Here the men and boys are furnished with bathing suits, soap and towel, are required to take a shower bath before entering the swimming pool and everything is free. On two days in each week women and girls are admitted to the pool.

There are different play grounds for children of different ages. The little ones have wading pools where the water ranges from 3 inches to one foot in depth. They have sand pavilions covered with a canopy and supplied with the clean sand from the lake shore, where the little ones delight in playing by the hour. One gets a little of the object in view in establishing these gymnasiums, by this portion of a general letter to the different instructors in the gymnasiums addressed to them by the park commissioners:

"Whether we wish it or not, the gymnasium and the athletic field are schools of character, but the kind of character formed in these schools will depend in great measure upon the instructor in charge. Children, especially, will imitate you closely in your play, habits of speech, manners and attitude and you will have every opportunity to sow your personality broadcast among hundreds, and possibly thousands of children. In the gymnasium where you come in close contact with the children, try to call them by name. Take an interest in all that they do and say; praise every worthy attempt, and especially all improvement on their part. Do not preach to them. Take care to be scrupulously polite."

"The gymnasium and swimming pools are wonderfully popular. At Sherman park the attendant told me the day I was there, which was a day for men and boys, that from 1600 to 1800 battles would be taken that day. I talked with a number of the park policemen, and asked them what influence this work was having on the boys in the neighborhood and they are unanimous in saying that in the short time these parks had been opened, they could see what a refining influence this was having on the wild harum scarum children of the neighborhood, and they said, 'We wonder what these children did before the parks were opened. They come here by the thousands daily. They had no other place to play before but in the filthy streets and alleys of the crowded tenement districts.' All sorts of games are provided, ball grounds, tennis courts, and in the winter, skating and toboggan slides.

"In some of the larger parks public golf links are provided. Each park has a refreshment pavilion under the charge of the park commissioners. The ice cream is made by the park commissioners for all these parks and is sold practically at cost, 5c a dish. The object in all the refreshment pavilions is simply to pay the cost only."

"In addition to these entertainments, band concerts are furnished by the park commissioners and through the winter various lecture courses, stereoscopic views, etc. Each club house has a free reading room and in many of the parks in addition to the reading room, there is a sub-station of the Chicago library.

"One cannot but be impressed with the humanity of this work that is being carried on by the park commissioners. A city cannot over invest in the happiness of its future citizens, and in the effort to make them good citizens. True this all costs money, but it costs money to keep up our jails, reform schools and penitentiaries, and the state had far better spend money to make a good citizen, than to spend money to provide for his punishment when he becomes a bad citizen.

"I was particularly struck with the way these parks are laid out, and the landscape gardening effects. Sherman park 18 months ago was a flat level cabbage patch. Now it is a beautiful park with uneven surface little hills and little valleys. Some people are imbued with the idea that a park should be a level surface but the ideal striven for by the park commissioners in Chicago, is to give it the rugged, uneven appearance of nature. Along the outer edges of these parks facing the streets, they had piled the dirt up in continuous irregular hillocks and on top of these planted trees and shrubbery to hide the view of the street.

"We have all these natural advantages about Decatur for our park system. Our new Lincoln park is ideal in this respect and only needs a little dressing up to make it a charming place.

"I secured some two dozen pictures of the play ground parks which will be used in the Chamber of Commerce lecture on beautiful Decatur."

"Yes, I should like to see the play ground park idea inaugurated in Decatur, shower baths, gymnasiums, swimming pools and although of course on a smaller scale. Born and reared in the country and knowing the delights of the old 'Swimmin' Hole,' my heart goes out in sympathy to the boy who is denied that privilege. We don't want the boys to swim in the Sangamon above the dam because of the contamination of our water supply, and we have made it impossible for him to bathe below the dam by reason of emptying our sewer there. We have enacted laws making it impossible for a boy under fourteen to work and we arrest him if he plays ball in the streets. Play is the God given right of childhood and this city can make no better investment today than play ground parks in its congested districts."

WREATH FOR TOM B OF DANISH KING.

Silver Wreath, Gift of Danes in America.

New York, Aug. 14.—All the Danes residing in the United States have been called upon to contribute to a fund for a silver wreath to be sent to decorate the tomb of the late King Christian of Denmark, in the old Cathedral of Roskilde. More than sixty thousand subscribers all over the country responded to the call which was for amounts not exceeding twenty-five cents, and as a result, the committee has procured a handsome tribute in the shape of a solid silver wreath which cost about $2,000.

As the beech is the national tree of Denmark, its leaf was chosen as the most appropriate to use in the design. In the center is the Danish coat-of-arms, surmounted by the royal crown. A band of silver wound through the wreath bears the dates of King Christian's reign—1806-1906—the inscription in Danish, "Fra Danske i Amerika," and the motto of King Christian,

"Med Gud for Aero og Ret," which means "With God for honor and right." The wreath is two feet four inches in diameter, and is made entirely of silver. It was designed by Fr. Ranbusch, artist, and executed by P. Deist jeweler, both of whom are Danish residents of New York City.

As the wreath has now been completed, it will be sent at once to the Danish Ambassador in Washington, C. Brum. He will place it on the tomb of the King. This old church was finished in the eleventh century and is the resting place of all the kings and queens of Denmark from the beginning of the tenth century to the present day.

Thirty-seven prominent Danes in New York City comprise the committee which originated and carried out this plan. The officers of the committee are George Kirkegaard, chairman; J. Neergaard, treasurer, and E. Schwabe, secretary.

WORK PROGRESSING

On Block on North Fourth Street—
Old House Moved for New Structure.

Work on the new business and flat building being erected by Chicote & Jones, between West Main and Church streets on Fourth, is progressing rapidly and will probably be completed for occupancy within a few weeks.

The old house, formerly the residence of Perry Rank, has been removed to the rear of the property and a three story, modern pressed brick store and flat structure will be erected, joining onto the new building now in process of construction. There will be twenty-five rooms in the new structure arranged in suites convenient for light housekeeping, while the lower floor will be rented for business purposes.

The main building, which is to contain the Orpheum theatre, is now well toward completion.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ## A SORRY FIGURE

Is Evelyn Thaw on Close Analysis,
Says A French Woman.

Hysteria has stalked abroad since the killing of Stanford White by Harry K. Thaw, says the New York Globe. Women who are ordinarily reticent and gentle grow shrill and vehement in condemnation or championship, men who are usually well balanced and judicial, wax sentimental and talk like the maudlin heroes of cheap melodrama.

In the hubbub we seem to have lost sight of Evelyn Thaw, the woman, the really central figure in the tragedy.

What does Evelyn Thaw really look like? Ask a dozen persons who have seen her and each will give you a different answer. Some will tell you that she has an innocent face, guileless, childish and sweet. Others say that a vicious temper and a weak mind are writ large upon the mobile features.

The eyes of the girl for whose sake murder has been done are hazel. They are large and long, and have that clear, liquid softness that only Muriel ever succeeded in painting. They are unusual eyes in that they have the length and shape of what we call Oriental eyes, but they have none of the languor and stupidity of the average "eye of the harem." Evelyn Thaw's eyes are bright and sparkling, alight not with intelligence or thought (that pretty head is sadly lacking in these useful attributes) but with the fires of youth and merriment. Long lashes fringe these bright eyes, and exquisite, arched dark brows give character to the fair forehead, with the dark hair growing low around the piquant little face.

The nose of this beauty is not perfect, as the Greek understood perfect features. It starts out proudly to be Roman, and content itself (and others) by remaining merely a little high nose, with a well-raised bridge, and full nostrils. The nose gives the most plastic quality to the perfect face. If it is a little straight affair, quaint, frivolous or pretty face would more doll's mask, in lines and tones of nose.

The mouth of a girl whose pretty face is a man's death, being placed in a story more true than her own, is a little straight affair, quaint, frivolous or pretty face would more doll's mask, in lines and tones of nose. The mouth of a girl whose pretty face is a man's death, being placed in a story more true than her own, is a little straight affair, quaint, frivolous or pretty face would more doll's mask, in lines and tones of nose.

that Salome had a mouth like the one shown in this word picture.

"Like a ripe pomegranate cleft in twain."

Evelyn Thaw's ear is not the small, shell like ear of song and story. It is long and rather large, though the rim is perfect in its curve. Evelyn used to say that she had a musical ear. The other girls in the chorus said her ear liked the musical clink of glasses and the clink of gold.

Another beauty of this young creature whose "fair outside" was surely fashioned by the Creator in an artistic mood, is her teeth. They are like pearls, and her smile is a dazzling crescent.

Her figure is slim and lithe. She is a trifle under the medium height, and weighs about 110 pounds. She looks rather frail and delicate.

Intellectually the charming head that has inspired painters is not so well dowered. The little restless mind behind that smooth brow is small and narrow and shallow. It has never been fed with good looks and good counsel. Flatterers, tempters and worldly elders have urged the neglect of her brain and the cultivation of hair and complexion. The result has been successful from their point of view.

Evelyn Thaw is not a thoughtful woman. She is not even calculating. Had she given much thought to the matter she would probably not have dilated on the alleged wrongs done her by Stanford White, as she is said to have done.

When Evelyn said to the grand jury the other day, "I am 20," she forgot to say that she was also more than 20. Some of her friends say that she is 22. But the fact is that she was in "Florodora" in 1900, and she gave her age as 17 at that time—making her at least 23.

SANG CONSTANTLY

All Night While in the Grip of a Mountain Lion—A Western Story.

The Deadwood, S. D., correspondent of the St. Paul Dispatch, sends this story to his paper:

Kept a captive through an entire night by a ferocious mountain lion, and saved from a horrible death only by her singing, was the terrible experience of Mrs. John Underwood, who, with her family, was camping on the banks of Iron Creek, near Harney Peak. This is one of the wildest and most rugged regions in the Black Hills. Wild animals, long extinct in other parts, still make their homes among the rocks and caves, and hide in the dark recesses of this park like wonderland.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood with their three children came recently from New York, Mr. Underwood to look after some mining interests and the family to enjoy the novelty of camp life in the Black Hills. They camped in a commodious tent in a small park just back from the precipitous banks of Iron creek. Last Friday evening, just before sundown, Mrs. Underwood started from camp alone to meet her husband who was coming from the mine. Not being familiar with the country she missed her way, and although she tried to keep her wits about her and look for the familiar landmarks, yet it was not long until she realized that she was hopelessly lost.

The night falls suddenly among these mountains, and just as the last flicker of daylight vanished she was startled by a frightful scream behind her, and at the same moment was borne to the ground by an immense mountain lion. The fall did not hurt her, but as the wild eyed animal stood over her and she realized her probable fate, she screamed in terror. The lion lifted his head at the sound of the echo which her voice awakened, and as she saw that his attention was attracted, it came to her mind that she had read of wild animals being subdued by the sound of a human voice. She began to sing, first in a faltering and uncertain voice, but afterward more steadily and clearly, as she found that she could effectually distract the beast.

Through the chill night of the mountain she sang, now gayly, now desperately, all the songs she ever heard, while the immense cat lay in apparent content with one huge paw stretched over her, holding her in a vice like grip. She had wandered farther from the beaten path than she had realized, and it was not until the day began to break that Mr. Underwood, guided by the sound of her voice, found his imprisoned wife.

A carefully directed shot from his rifle brought a speedy death to the lion, and Mrs. Underwood was rescued, thoroughly unnerved from her night's experience, but otherwise unhurt.

The lion measured 5 feet from tip to tip, and weighed not less than 100 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood, with their family returned east. This is the first lion that has been seen in the southern hills for years, and the supposition is that it had become entranced from hunger as it is a very unusual thing for one of these cougars to attack a person.

STAND PAT TEXT BOOK

For the Republican Campaign Is Approved by President.

SHERMAN SUBMITS PROOFS

Excerpts of Speaker Cannon's Speech At Danville Also Discussed at Political Conference at Sagamore Hill. Shonts Reports on What Is Doing In the Way of Canal Digging.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 14.—At an important political conference at Sagamore Hill, Congressman Sherman of New York, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, submitted to the president proofs of the party's new campaign text book for revision and approval, besides several arguments Speaker Cannon is to make in his convention speech at Danville, Ill. Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the isthmian canal commission, who landed from Panama Aug. 11, informed the president of affairs on the isthmus. Joseph B. Bishop, secretary of the commission, came with Shonts and remained a guest of the president. Henry W. Taft of New York, brother of the secretary of war, was also a guest, as was Robert Bridges, the author. Representative Longworth, who is a member of the campaign committee, took part in the political discussion.

Chairman Shonts of the isthmian canal commission said after his visit to the president that he gave the president a report up to date of the progress of canal work. The question of most importance confronting the commission, he said, is that of obtaining labor. "We shall advertise at once for 2,500 Chinese laborers in China," he said, "and give laborers of that nationality a thorough trial at the work. It has been represented to us that they will be more satisfactory than any class of laborers we have yet tried. The Jamaica negroes whom we have given an extensive trial have not proved satisfactory. The Spanish laborers we are working now to a great extent are very much better than the Jamaica negroes. We shall endeavor to have laborers of as many nationalities as we can get to work on the canal, as it is better than having a large force of one nationality."

Chairman Shonts says that conditions on the isthmus are very much improved, and that both Secretary Taft and himself will go with the president when he makes his inspection of the work in November.

When Representative Sherman left Sagamore Hill he said that while he had gone over the congressional campaign with the president thoroughly, the principal object of his visit was to review the campaign text book, which is to be issued next week. When Speaker Cannon, Mr. Sherman and other members of the congressional committee visited the president several weeks ago several matters to be handled in the text book were discussed in detail. Mr. Sherman said it was desirable to go over these matters again with the president before the book should be given to the public. He said the president approved of the way in which the matters were handled.

"The book will be a stand-pat document with word pictures of the record of the Republican party and reasons why that party should be kept in power," said Mr. Sherman. Mr. Sherman spoke appreciatively of the president's interest and assistance in the campaign. The outlook, he said, is good. "Of course," he remarked, "the Republicans are not going to retain all the seats they now have in the house, but we will remain in actual control of the Sixtieth congress. That we are sure of."

VOTERS' RIGHTS

In Primary Elections, as Viewed by a
Kansas City Court.

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—In the circuit court it was decided by Judge Brumback that it is contrary to the constitution of the United States for a political committee to make an arbitrary ruling defining what members of the party should have the right to vote at primary elections, basing the ruling on how the members of the party voted at the last state election. Judge Brumback declared that the ballot is sacred under the constitution, and that no political party has the right to investigate and find out how a man voted at the past election. The present committee ruled that no man who had not voted the party ticket at the last state election had the right to vote at the approaching county primary election, and certain members of the party, who had not voted the straight party ticket at the last state election, appealed to the circuit court to stay the action of the committee.

THE KING CO.

At an adjourned session of the City Council held in the council chamber at the city hall Monday night, for the purpose of acting upon the report of the committee appointed to consider the appraisement and purchase of the old water works plant, the proposition of H. M. Merrill, representing that company, was rejected. The report was as follows:

To the City Council:

Gentlemen—Your committee, to whom was referred the proposition of H. M. Merrill for the appraisement and purchase of the old water works plant by the city beg leave to report as follows:

First—That the selection of three honest, competent and disinterested water works engineers will be a very difficult and tedious matter.

Second—That it would involve the city in an expense of several thousand dollars.

Third—That if the appraisement was too high and rejected by the vote of the people, the amount spent for the appraisement and the election would be absolutely lost to the city.

Fourth—That it would take at least three months and perhaps more to select the engineers, complete the appraisement and submit the matter to the vote of the people, and would greatly delay the city in the construction of the new plant.

Fifth—That the city should not consent to a valuation based upon a replacement of the old plant, as that would require the city to purchase and pay double value for a large portion of the old plant, for which it would have no use, and which would be of little or no use to the city.

Sixth—Your committee would recommend that Mr. H. M. Merrill be requested to submit to said council, in writing, by Monday, August 29, 1900, a price at which he would be willing to dispose of the old city water works plant, and if the price, so submitted is reasonable, that the matter be submitted to the vote of the people, and that if he declines such proposition that the Board of Public Service be directed and required to proceed at once with the construction of the new plant.

At AGE OF SIXTY EMBEZZLER OF ATHENS, BEGINS TERM OF SEVEN YEARS.

SOBBED WHEN LOCKED IN CELL

Prisoner Had Been an Honored Citizen of Athens County For Forty Years.

Columbus, Aug. 14.—Winfield Scott, the Athens embezzler, was received at the Ohio penitentiary last night to begin his seven year term. If he is good his term will be shortened so that he may go free on February 19, 1911.

Scott did not break down upon parting from his relatives but walked down the corridor beside the guard as a business man visiting the prison might do. After the doors of his cell had been locked, however, and intercourse with the world was cut off, the guard heard him sobbing.

The famous Athens county short-case case was brought to a close yesterday afternoon when Judge Wood overruled the motion for a new trial found Scott guilty of embezzling $1600 county funds and sentenced him to serve the limit for the crime of which he was found guilty.

Scott, though 60 years of age, and though he has been under a constant nervous strain for the past 18 months received the sentence without the slightest indication that he realized what the sentence meant.

Scott has been an honored resident of Athens for 40 years, and he had been entrusted with many positions of responsibility and honor. He had served many years as agent for the B. & O. S. W. railroad at Athens, he had served the Athens board of education for years; he had served on the board of city water works trustees; he had served under the new municipal code—in fact, he was a member of the first board of that kind ever established in Athens—he had served as treasurer of the Athens County Agricultural Society, and had handled hundreds of dollars for the association, and as a final climax to his career he had served four and a half years as deputy county auditor of Athens county during the time his brother, W. F. Scott, held the position of county auditor.

During this time he began the peculations which finally led to his arrest and conviction in connection with the Athens county treasury shortage. By making false abstracts and settlement sheets and charging the county treasurer with loss money than he collected, he was able to extract from the cash drawer the amount corresponding with the amount he undercharged the treasurer. In this way he was able to have the treasurer come out about right at each settlement time and where would show no apparent shortage.

That he was able to do this was due to the fact that he had free access to the treasurer's office and constantly carried a key to that department. Scott invariably made up the settlement sheets and the abstracts and in this manner was kept tacked of the amount that could be extracted with detection. In addition to his access to the treasurer's office Scott was frequently sent by ex-Treasurer Biddison, and ex-Treasurer Hickman to collect taxes in Nelsonville and Glenster. According to the report filed with the state department by examiner Dover, Scott's falsification
